Fans of daytime television turned out at Lely Resort's Players Club & Spa to mingle with their favorite actors from All My Children, As The World Turns, One Life to Live, Guiding Light, The Bold and the Beautiful and General Hospital during the 2006 Southwest Florida SoapFest June 17.

The two-day seventh annual event also included a booze cruise, along with the actors and a celebrity bartender bash where the actors served up cocktails. The Night of Stars event was hosted by Stock Development and benefited Hospice of Marco, The Ricky King Children's Fund and Eden-Florida. Auction items included Emmy packages, "share a scene with your favorite actor and keep it forever on DVD," lunch with your favorite actor in New York City and studio tours. Guiding Light's Tom Pelphrey, left, and One Life to Live's John-Paul Lavoisier ham it up for the crowd at Lely Resort's Players Club & Spa June 17. New Jersey native Pelphrey joined the cast of Guiding Light as troubled teen Jonathan Randall, Reva's long lost son. Pelphrey recently graduated with a BFA in acting at the Mason Gross School of the Arts at Rutgers.
